Something Right

Author's Notes:
A slightly fluffy drabble.

What all went wrong?

The shower broke, the toilet clogged, and I was late for work.

All day, my boss screamed at me for no real reason.

I got off work just to spend three hours with a new session drummer who couldn't even keep a beat, no matter how hard I tried to keep him in tempo.

Oh, and one of my guitar strings broke, too.

I got home, expecting I would be lonely.

I was wrong. Instead, I got a gentle "It's going to be okay" and a hug from Erik.

Maybe, something was going... well, right.
